Executive Summary

The Solomon Islands education system is currently undergoing significant restructuring and reform in response to needs identified through the development of the Education Sector Investment and Reform Program (ESIRP) and the Education Strategic Plan (ESP). The 2008 Education Statistics Report provides an overview of key indicators of progress along this path, with the data gathered for 2008 providing a baseline for monitoring future expansion and change in the sector. The report also presents general information about the sector that will be useful for the various stakeholders involved in the implementation of the ESIRP, and for day to day management and delivery of education in the Solomon Islands

Section One: Overview of Education Statistics

Section One of this report presents high level summary statistics about the education system. This includes an overview of the number of schools, students and teachers in the Solomon Islands education system.

Section Two: Report on the Education Sector Monitoring and Evaluation Indicators

Section two provides reports for the current year against the MEHRD sector level indicators of access, quality and efficiency in education service delivery. These indicators were developed at the Annual Joint Review of the Education Sector Investment and Reform Program (ESIRP) in June, 2004. The indicators serve as the sector level monitoring and evaluation framework, to assist MEHRD Officers, Education Authorities, Donor Partners and other Education Sector Stakeholders with evaluating progress towards the goals and objectives of the ESIRP. The indicators are grouped according to three monitoring areas: access, quality and efficiency.

Section Three: Province Summary Report

Section three provides further detail about the schools, students and teachers within each Province. The information in this section is disaggregated according to the Education Authorities operating in each Province.

The MEHRD Annual School Census

The statistics presented in this report have been gathered from the schools of the Solomon Islands through the Annual School Census. Additional data has also been collected from the National Statistics Office (population data and projections) and the Ministry of Finance (financial and budget figures).

School survey data once received at the Ministry of Education and Human Resource Development is collated and analysed using the Solomon Islands Education Management Information System (SIEMIS).

SIEMIS is a rich database of information about the schools, students and teachers of the Solomon Islands education system. If you would like more information about the Solomon Islands education system, or more detailed information about an aspect of the system, please contact the Planning, Coordination and Research Unit of the Ministry of Education and Human Resource Development.

Section One: Overview of Education Statistics

Our Schools

There are five types of schools operating in the formal education system of the Solomon Islands: Early Childhood Education Centres (ECEs), Primary Schools (PS), Community High Schools (CHS), Provincial Secondary Schools (PSS) and National Secondary Schools (NSS).

Early Childhood Education (ECE) centres are the first introduction to formal schooling for most Solomon Islanders. ECE centres, also known as Kindergartens, tend to be community or village-based.

Currently formal education commences in Primary schools at the preparatory grade, for children aged six years. The purpose of Primary education is to introduce children to the skills needed for writing, reading, mathematics, community studies, science, agriculture, art, music, physical education and Christian education.

Secondary education follows after Primary schooling and continues for three (to Form 3), six (to Form 6), or, for a small number, seven years (to Form 7). The purpose of secondary education is to expand knowledge of subjects already studied at primary school including literature, science, mathematics, social studies, commerce and other subjects essential for physical and intellectual development and to prepare students for specialised skills training.

In the Secondary school system, there are 3 categories of schools:

National Secondary Schools (NSS): These schools are the original High Schools operated by the Government and the Churches; their student enrolments come from across the country.

Provincial Secondary Schools (PSS): These schools were initiated by the Government but run by the Provinces; their student enrolment should be restricted to the provinces only.

Community High Schools (CHS): These schools started as Primary schools and the secondary sections were added on. The school is built and managed by the Communities and assisted by the Church or Provincial Education Authorities

Early Childhood Education

ECE centres are designed for pre-schooling for children aged 3 – 5 years. In practice, however, many children remain in Kindergarten beyond 5 years of age, before going on to start Primary School. Other children start ECE when they are older than 5.

Primary Education

Currently the seven years of primary schooling (Preparatory to Standard Six) are the official ‘basic education’ program of the Solomon Islands. A child is expected to commence at the age of six or seven and continue for seven years.

Secondary Education

Entry into secondary school is highly competitive, with students admitted to Form 1 on the basis of their performance in the Solomon Islands Secondary School Entrance Examination (SISSEE). The official entry age for Form 1 is 13 years. All students enrolled in Form 1 study the same curriculum for the first 3 years of secondary school in preparation to sit the Form 3 Examination. Places in upper secondary are allocated on the basis of performance in end of year examinations, with fewer and fewer places available at each more senior level of schooling.

Section 2: Education Sector Monitoring and Evaluation Indicators

Access One and Two: Gross and Net Intake Rates

Gross Intake Rate: new entrants into Primary Standard 1, regardless of age, expressed as a percentage of the official primary school entry-aged population (6 year olds).

Section 2: Education Sector Monitoring and Evaluation Indicators

Net Intake Rate: Number of new entrants into primary Standard 1 who are of the official primary school entry age, expressed as a percentage of the official primary school entry-aged population.

GPI: Gender Parity Index. The GPI shown in each column is the ratio of the value for females over the value for males. A GPI of 1 indicates equal values for females and males. GPI less than 1 indicates the value for females is less than the value for males.

Population data used in this report has been supplied by the National Statistics Office. These are projections derived from the 1999 Census data.

Access Three and Four: Gross and Net Enrolment Ratios

Gross Enrolment Ratio: Number of pupils enrolled in a given level of education, regardless of age, expressed as a percentage of the population in the relevant official age group. GER values greater than 100% indicate the presence in the school system of pupils outside the official age range. This is caused by pupils starting school late, and/or high repetition rates

Net Enrolment Ratio: Number of pupils in the official age group for a given level of education expressed as a percentage of the total population in that age group. NER values cannot exceed 100%. NER values less than 100% indicate students of the appropriate age range not attending school. This may be caused by pupils who drop out, or who never attend school.

Quality Six and Seven: Percentage of Qualified and Certified Teachers

Qualified Teachers: Teachers having the required academic qualifications to teach. Currently, the minimum qualification is Form 5 for Primary teachers, and Form 6 for secondary teachers.

Certified Teachers: Teachers who have undertaken professional teacher training. Currently the minimum required academic qualification to be considered a certified teacher is completion of a teaching certificate.

² The Annual School Survey collects information on the number of boarders at each secondary and CHS school, as well as details of each dormitory. A number of schools supplied boarder numbers but did not provide information about the dormitories. Pupil/dormitory ratio is calculated across only those schools providing both boarder and dormitory data. Dormitory information has been collected since 2004.

Efficiency Sixteen and Seventeen: Public Current Expenditure on Education

Indicator 16a expresses public current expenditure on primary education as a percentage of GNP.

Indicator 16b expresses public current expenditure on primary education per pupil as a percentage of GNP per capita. This provides an indication of the cost of educating on primary pupil for one year in the context of per capita share in GNP in that year.

Enrolment numbers used on this page are estimates that attempt to account for missing data in the annual survey by using the most recent values supplied by those schools that did not return a survey in 2007.

Efficiency Eighteen: Public Expenditure on Education

Public Expenditure on Primary Education as a Percentage of Total Public Expenditure on Education: The first of this series of indicators measures the relative priority given to primary education within overall public expenditure on education.

Public Expenditure on Education as a Percentage of Total Expenditure: Measures the relative priority given to education as a whole within the overall national expenditure.

Public Expenditure on Secondary and Tertiary Education as a Percentage of Total Public Expenditure on Education: Indicator 12c is a similar measure to 12a, this time considering the relative priority given to secondary and tertiary education within overall public expenditure on education.

Per Pupil Annual Recurrent Unit Expenditures: Measures the per pupil costs of education at each education sector, taking into consideration all recurrent expenditure on education at a given level of the system and dividing this figure by the number of pupils enrolled at that level.

The units costs for a pupil completing primary, secondary and tertiary education schooling: As an extension of 12d, indicator 12e calculates the cost of sending one pupil to school for the duration of Primary, Secondary and Tertiary. This is calculated by multiplying the unit cost of education at each level and multiplying this by the average number of years required for each pupil to complete schooling at that level.

Efficiency Twenty and Twenty-One: Primary Survival Rates

Survival Rate to Std 4 (Std 6): Percentage of students who enroll in Primary school who reach std 4 (Std 6)

Indicators 20–22 are derived using the Reconstructed Cohort method. This technique simulates the movement of students throughout the whole primary system, using only data from two successive years. Specifically, Repetition, Promotion and Dropout rates are calculated at each level from enrolments and repeaters numbers in the two years.

The level-to-level survival rate (ie Prep–Std 1, Std 1 to Std 2 etc) is calculated from the Repetition and Promotion Rates for the Base level, by considering not only pupils who proceed to the next level without repetition, but also those who proceed after repeating one, two or three times.

The Survival Rate to Std 4 is the product of the level-to-level survival rates for Prep, Std 1, Std 2 and Std 3.

Total	0.82	0.63	0.64	↗
GPI	0.96	0.99	0.98	↘

³ Repetition rates require two consecutive years' data and therefore are particularly susceptible to inaccuracy introduced by incomplete survey returns. The rates shown are calculated by considering only schools that returned surveys in the base year and the following year.

Survival Rates by level, 2007→2008

Efficiency Twenty-two: Co-efficient of Efficiency

Coefficient of efficiency: Ideal number of pupil years needed for a cohort to complete the primary cycle (ie 7, including Prep), expressed as a percentage of the actual number of pupil years.

The coefficient of efficiency provides a succinct measure of the efficiency of the primary education system; that is, the quantity of “inputs” needed – ie pupil-years of education – to produce a tangible educational “output” – ie a primary graduate.

The co-efficient of efficiency can be derived from Repetition and Promotion Rates calculated from two successive years’ of data. However, we cannot use the calculated Promotion Rate from Std 6 to Form 1 to measure the percentages of Std 6 enrolments who complete that level, since acceptance into Form 1 is limited by competitive examination. We use instead a linear extrapolation of the promotion rates for earlier primary levels.

The coefficient of efficiency reported for 2008 is derived from the repetition and promotion rates from 2007 to 2008.

Annex One: School Survey Performance

In large part, the data presented in this Digest has been collated from the school survey forms distributed to each school in Solomon Islands since 2004.

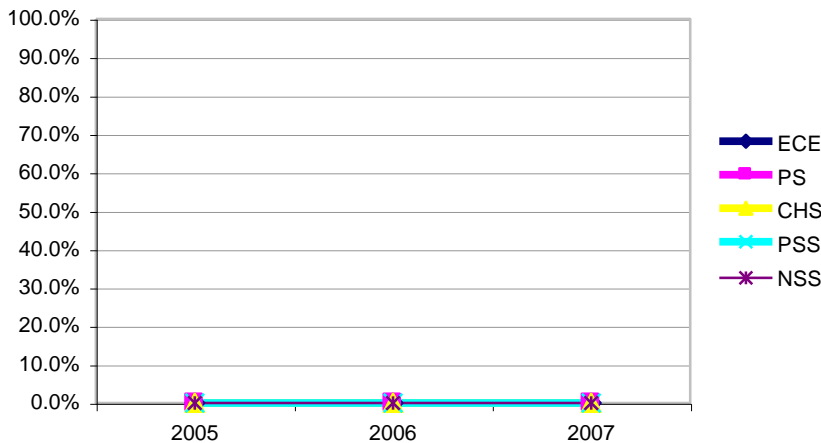

For those schools that did not return their forms in the current survey, data is “estimated” by substituting that supplied on the most recent survey returned.

The levels of survey returns by district, and the subsequent degree to which data has been estimated, are analysed in this annex.
